Upon notification by an employee of her pregnancy, managers and supervisors are responsible for providing and discussing leave and lactation policies and options. Departments are responsible for identifying appropriate facilities in advance of the employee’s return to work.

Managers and supervisors can access a general list of buildings (Davis / Health) with lactation rooms to determine if an employee has a lactation space nearby. For health and safety reasons, only registered participants have room numbers and access codes to the rooms.

Read the Guidelines for Lactation Accommodation which summarizes UC Davis and UC Davis Health policies and guidelines for employees and supervisors.
